Lettre d'information mensuelle de l'École française d'Extrême-Orient
Monthly Newsletter of the French School of Asian Studies

November 2008

Editorial

On November 29 and 30, at the EFEO Center in Siem Reap, will be held the first joint workshop of the École française d'Extrême-Orient and the Electronic Cultural Atlas Initiative (ECAI—University of California at Berkeley) on geographic information systems (GIS) and online databases. The objective of this workshop is to gather EFEO researchers and their collaborators together with specialists from the ECAI in order to present work in progress, to compare experiences, and to discuss and explore possibilities and perspectives for development and collaboration in the field of GIS and databases. Special attention will be paid to the EFEO/Agence Nationale de la Recherche (ANR) project L'espace khmer ancien: construction d'un corpus numérique de données archéologiques et épigraphiques [Ancient Khmer Territory: constructing a digital corpus of archaeological and epigraphic data].

Paris

Colloquia, missions, and meetings

At the annual meeting of the American Academy of Religion—AAR, November 1-3 in Chicago, Franciscus Verellen, Director, will take part in a round table entitled “A Conversation with Franciscus Verellen and Stephen F. Teiser [holder of the D.T. Suzuki chair in Buddhist studies at Princeton University],” to be chaired by James Robson (Harvard University). He will also be respondent to a panel on “Chronicling the Dao: A Critical Appraisal of Kristofer Schipper and Franciscus Verellen’s The Taoist Canon: A Historical Companion to the Daozang (University of Chicago Press, 2005),” to be chaired by Jonathan Herman (University of Georgia).

From November 24 to 27, Franciscus Verellen will be at the EFEO Center in Hanoi where he will take part in the launch of the publication Champa and the Archaeology of My Son (Vietnam), edited by Andrew Hardy, Mauro Cucarzi, and Patrizia Zolese (Singapore, NUS Press, 2008). He will then visit the Phnom Penh center on November 28 and will take part, on November 29 and 30, in the EFEO—ECAI (Berkeley) workshop in Siem Reap on geographic information systems (GIS) and online databases.

Prizes and honors

At the formal opening of their term, the Academy of Inscriptions and Belles-Lettres will announce the prizes awarded in 2008 to members of the EFEQ. Christophe Pottier has received the Joseph P. Carroll Prize, which will allow him to continue his work on the Angkor site. The Ikuo Hirayama Prize has been awarded jointly to Jean Deloche in recognition of the totality of his work, to Jacques Gaucher to help in the publication of the map of the Angkor Thom site, and to Claude Martzloff.

Of Special Note

The Director of Studies would like to draw attention to the newly published collection, put together by Emmanuel Lozerand and Christophe Marquet, of materials by Jean-Jacques Origas (1937-2003), La lampe d’Akutagawa. Essais sur la littérature japonaise moderne [Akutagawa’s lantern: essays on modern Japanese literature], Paris: Les Belles-Lettres, 2008. Jean-Jacques Origas, whose courses François Lachaud followed for a long time, was one of France’s greatest teachers and researchers in the field of Japanese studies. Through his dedicated teaching and his meticulous and intensive research (of which this volume records the highlights), he trained several generations of French scholars of Japan, always combining intellectual rigor and humanity. His voice, writings, and personal memory remain alive among us. We are indebted to those who produced this book.

Alain Lucas (EHESS-CRLAO) and Jean-Louis Schott (ESIT-Univ. Paris 3) have created an online research tool in Chinese traditional philology (semantics, phonology, grammatology): Shuowenjiezi.com. By simply clicking on a chosen Chinese character, you delve into the Shuowen Jiezi where you can consult the corresponding comments on the Shuowen by Duan Yucai, as well as those in the Guangyun, Jiyun, Erya, Fangyan, and Shiming. For each Chinese character, wherever it is possible, a series of archaic graphs (jiaguwen and jinwen) and graphic variants are given. Dynamic links give access to online dictionaries, reference works and metadata on Chinese philology. Different modes of interrogation allow scholars to find efficiently what they are looking for. This website is entirely in text mode, enabling the function copy/paste
