November 2009

Editorial

On November 26 the École française d'Extrême-Orient and the Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) will launch the new international journal Daoism: Religion, History and Society 道教研究學報—宗教·歷史與社會. This bilingual scholarly periodical accepts articles in English and Chinese. It is being published jointly by the EFEO Hong Kong Center, which is hosted by the CUHK Institute for Chinese Studies, and the CUHK Center for Studies in Daoist Culture. Published simultaneously in print and on the Internet, the journal will be distributed by the Chinese University Press. It is our hope that it will become an interactive forum for exchanging ideas and documenting the many faceted advances of a still relatively new but rapidly expanding field of research.

To mark the launch of the journal, the two partner institutions are organizing an international conference New Approaches to the Study of Daoism in Chinese Society and Culture the conference will be chaired by Professor Lai Chi Tim, Director of the Centre for the Study of Taoist Culture at the CUHK and co-director, with Franciscus Verellen, of the journal, in the presence of the French Vice Consul General in Hong Kong, the Vice-President of the Chinese University of Hong Kong, and the Director of the Institute for Chinese Studies. The EFEO will be represented by its Director of Studies, Francois Lachaud, and by the head of its Hong Kong Center, Lü Pengzhi.

In memoriam

It is with great sorrow that we have learned of the death on August 26 of Farzeen Baldrian-Hussein, in Berne, at the age of 64. Dr. Baldrian studied under the Sinologist Max Kaltenmark and was especially interested in Daoist alchemy. Recognized as an equal by her fellow scholars in the field, she never occupied an academic position. She carried out her research with passion and generosity in her house near Stuttgart. A close friend of Anna Seidel, she took part in the founding of the Cahiers d'Extrême-Asie and helped greatly in the journal's publication as a member of the editorial committee. It was in the Cahiers that she chose to publish the results of her research. We have lost a dear friend and share in the deep grief felt by her family. A detailed obituary will appear in the next issue of the Cahiers d'Extrême-Asie.
